Trees in the park in June

One tree in flower this month - the Elder Tree

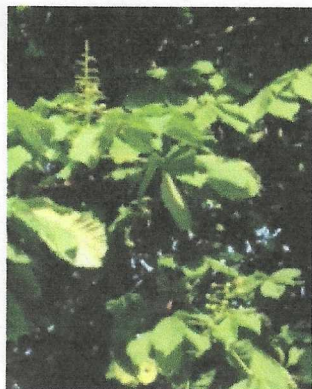

- It's said that the name elder comes from "aeld", an Anglo-Saxon word meaning fire. It seems that the hollow stems were used as bellows to blow air into the centre of a fire.
- Superstition has it that if you planted an elder by your house it would keep the devil away.
- Its flowers, creamy- coloured and highly scented, are often used to make elderflower wine, cordial and tea or fried to make fritters.

Horse Chestnut Tree

One of those flowering last month now busy producing conkers.

Other fruit to look out for :

Sycamore helicopters
Often in piles on the path - ready for spinning?

Ash Keys Nearly ready to be borne away on the wind.

The Norse Vikings called the Ash the Tree of Life

Lime fruit
