

Wild Flowers

Flowers in the hedges and edges in this month of June

Cleavers - very sticky

Cow Parsley - still around and Daisies

and new arrivals - the tall Oxeye daisies

Garlic Mustard

Ribwort Plantain in flower

Lesser Stitchwort

White Dead-nettle

Wild Flowers

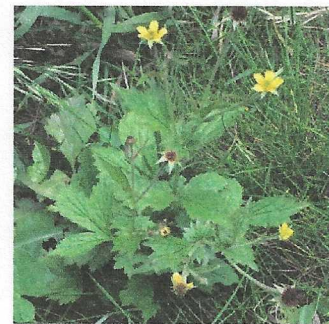

Flowers in the hedges and edges in this month of June

Groundsel

Buttercups – a-plenty

Wood avens now with seed heads

Smooth sow-thistle

Lots of Herb robert still around

Dog Rose Rosa Canina

For those of us who are old enough, its hips, when they were made into rose hip syrup, provided us children with much-needed Vitamin C during WW2

Wild Flowers

Flowers in the hedges and edges in this month of June

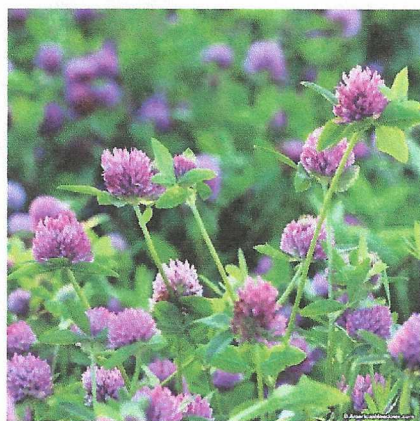

Slender speedwell

Field Forget-me-not

Ground ivy

Red Clover

Tufted Vetch

Stinging Nettles in flower and their antidotes

Dock leaves also in flower

Wild Flowers

Some characteristics of our wild flowers

There's an age-old tradition of gathering wild plants for their nutritional and medicinal value :

- ❖ Nettle tea, nettle soup, nettle pesto and even nettle beer
- ❖ *Dandelion leaves in salads, BBC Food has a list of dandelion recipes, and (wonder if this is helpful?)
"a strong tea of dandelion blossoms used as a hair rinse adds shine and highlights to blond hair"*
- ❖ Cleavers were traditionally used in poultices for skin ailments, their seeds, dried and roasted could be used as a coffee substitute, their sticky stems used to make a rough sieve to strain milk
- ❖ The Dog rose as mentioned on an earlier page whose hips can make rose hip syrup, can also be made into other syrups, tea and marmalade
- ❖ Ribwort plantain - fancy a recipe titled Aubergine and Avocado with Ribwort Plantain?

Other info :

Groundsel, sometimes called Old-man-in-the-Spring, has been described as "the flower of this herb hath white hair and when the wind bloweth it away then it appeareth like a bald-headed man"

And a most helpful plant, the Wood avens, has the power to drive away evil spirits and can protect against rabid dogs and venomous snakes - none of which are present in Risinghurst playing fields!