

A Spring Extra

Another Woodland Tree Fallen

The Desmond and Chiara storms in December and February damaged a number of the woodland trees.

Now another has fallen – a 20 m tall Willow, maybe a Goat Willow, completely uprooted at the edge of the woodland.

We're in a Spring we never expected and hope will never happen again. Two days after the Spring Equinox we went into lockdown on 23 March. We don't know but could we be spending all of Spring in lockdown.

From Spring Equinox to Summer Solstice?

Nature around us here in the park unaffected.

Animals are roaming the streets in some places, making the most of the lack of people and cars.

OK it's down to us but we're all in this together?
