

Butterflies

*So many Brown Butterflies especially over the wild flower meadow and the tall grasses of the approach path from the pavilion.
The Ringlet looks very dark brown but never stops to be identified!*

Ringlet

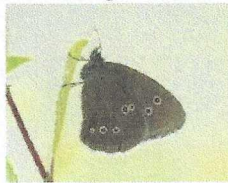

Gatekeeper/Hedge Brown

Meadow Brown

Speckled Wood

The second brood of the Small Tortoiseshell should be back now after a May/June gap. The 2nd brood has no interest in mating and in August might be preparing to hibernate – maybe in your shed? - although it's often seen flying in late autumn

Comma
with its unique ragged outline

Small Tortoiseshell

Peacock
well named after its eyes

And butterflies pictured in May and June - may still be around

Large and Small White

Orange Tip

Common Blue

Small Blue

Brimstone

Painted Lady

Red Admiral

If you're interested in butterflies - have you been to Bernwood Forest – beyond Horton-cum-Studley?
